Dollars and sense

Home-based businesses

There are many home-based small businesses you can start without leaving your regular job. Some could be quite lucrative. Here are a few ideas to get you thinking about the possibilities:

- Decorating - Offer custom faux painting and marbling of fireplaces for model homes in upscale developments.
- Sell what you make - Rent a booth at crafts fairs and art shows. The number of items you can make and sell is endless: silk flower arrangements, handmade soaps, needlepoint, silk-screened shirts, note cards, calligraphy invitations, dried flowers, jewelry, caricatures, charcoal sketches and portraits.
- Sell what you find - Shop flea markets and estate sales, or provide a clean-out service for houses and garages. (Include dump fees in your price for true junk.) You're sure to find a few treasures.
- Genealogy - If you have the genealogy bug, you can turn your activity into a moneymaker. A small ad in genealogy magazines, offering to do research in archives and courthouses in your area, can net you responses from around the country.
- Handyman - If you hook up with a few real estate companies and get a reputation as someone who's fast, talented and fair, you'll have more business than you know what to do with. Join forces with a licensed plumber and electrician to expand your range of services.
- Real estate - For absentee landlords, you can watch property on a regular basis, arrange for repairs, clean up between tenants, oversee repair crews, check pipes in winter and watch for vandalism.
- Plants - Lease and maintain plants in office buildings and model homes.
- Photography - Take photos of people and pets in their home. Create your own portable backgrounds.
- Closet and office organizer - Create organization out of the clutter.
- Personal chef - The client picks from your list of menus and comes home to a freezer stocked with meals you've prepared. Generate samples and rent a booth at craft and art sales to build your client list.
- Sell what you buy - Investigate selling items you buy wholesale. Select just one or two unique items to learn the ropes. Stick with small items that have a good markup potential.

With luck and perseverance, a home based business could grow into your main source of income.
